Summer School

organized by Kukulida e.V. and students of the Bauhaus-University Weimar

Dresden calling.

The summer school takes place at the Kukulida e.V., an housing project organised by an association that supports cultural and artistic diversity in Dresden. Together we want to inspect modern architecture in Dresden to get inspiration for developing concepts for a new patio at Kukulida's backyard.

We look for an exchange between students from different universities and want to create an experiential workspace, backgrounded by alternative housing conditions.

Therefore we invite 15 Bachelor Students of Architecture.

We are offering:

- ° a simple accomodation for free, with shower and cooking place
- ° guided (architec)tours, e.g. to Military History Museum by Libeskind and the Synagogue
- ° space for creative processes

All you need is a sleeping bag, a camping mat and about 15€ per day for food, public transport and admissions.

At the moment we still are looking for sponsors to reduce your costs.
