

Dear Students,

The annual symposium for environmental students in Europe – the EuroEnviro2010 will be held from the 7th to 16th of May. We invite about 100 students from Europe and all over the world to come to Graz and Vienna, Austria. We have developed a program focusing on one of the most important issues concerning our future, “Sustainable Lifestyle – Ideas for Mobility and Consumption”.

The program offers ten interesting days focussing on options for a sustainable lifestyle. By having diversified days with workshops, excursions, discussions and lectures the students from all over world will get to know each other in an international environment. We will offer ten impressive days that will allow students to discover the heart of our continent. More details on the agenda can be found in the program.

The EuroEnviro2010 is a sponsored project. This allows us to limit the participation fee to € 150, including accommodation, food, transportation, entrances and the rest of the program for ten days. You will only have to pay for your trip to Austria. If you can not afford that, we may be able to offer assistance by giving financial support, if you don't get any subsidies in your country of residence. We will also help non-EU-citizens with their visa applications and provide assistance for handicapped participants and participants with children.

To register please fill out the registration form, which will be available online during the registration period. Registrations will be open from Jan. 18th to Feb. 7th 2010. To validate your registration be sure to transfer the enrolment fee of €150 to our bank account in time.

If you are interested visit our website www.euroenviro2010.com and register now.

For further information concerning the registration please send an email to registration@euroenviro2010.com.

For any other question contact us via office@euroenviro2010.com.

We are looking forward to meeting you in Austria.

The EuroEnviro2010 Organizing Committee