Invitation to the international architecture competition
“A Glimpse into the Future — 2027”

Dear Professor Stepanović,

The Autonomous Non-Profit Organization “Institute of Complex Regional Development” and TransCity LLC invite University of Niš to participate in the international architecture competition “A Glimpse into the Future — 2027”, which supports architects, urban planners and designers and promotes a professional vision for the development of architecture, urban planning and the urban environment.

In 2025–2026, the competition received more than 400 entries from different regions of Russia. The new season features two categories, bringing together contemporary residential architecture and the improvement of an actual urban area.

“Apartment Building of the Future” seeks architectural and environmental solutions for contemporary apartment buildings, from the building’s overall form, layout and ground floors to courtyards, landscaping, residents’ ways of life and the building’s relationship with the urban environment. “Park Design in the Three Ponds Area” invites a landscaping concept for the area near Lake Krivoye in Tyumen, taking into account the natural landscape, water bodies, public spaces and leisure activities.

Competition regulations, participation requirements and application form: https://www.i-ktr.ru/2027-en

Applications are accepted from 1 November 2026 to 15 January 2027 inclusive. Participants may submit projects in one or both categories; each project is registered separately.

The total cash prize fund is RUB 300,000.

We also ask for your informational support for the competition: please publish information about it and a link to the competition page on your institution’s official website, social media, information channels and mailing lists, and bring the invitation to the attention of relevant faculties, departments, lecturers, students and postgraduate students.
